Crafting with Festive Tangles!

Why not share a little tangle with your friends and family during the holidays?

As a continuation of our Festive Tangling sessions, We will focus on ideas on how you can use them. Here are some of the ideas:

- * Gift tags: Use regular stuff: fine line pens, gel pens (especially glittery ones), wax/chalk colored pencils, markers, etc.
- * Ornaments & decorations: Wood, regular pens, pencils markers work fine without prepping the wood. Metal, ceramic or plastic - Paint pens or permanent markers are best.
- * With the addition of playing with the new Translucence-Z tiles, maybe get some of these, or buy some Vellum, (thickness would depend on your project)
- * ...and yes, COOKIES! If you want to tangle on cookies, here is a link to my blog post with information regarding cookies: <https://tangleaddicts.wordpress.com/2017/11/24/tangled-cookies-2/>

OR (as usual) just follow along playing with the tangles on paper or your sketchbook to play and jot down ideas for later!!

What you need to have handy, depends on what you want to tangle on or what project you may want to do. Here's a general list for the projects I know we will be sharing:

- Paper or project to draw on. Cardstock, Zentangle® Tiles, sketchbook, etc. Size & color is up to you, but good idea to have a combination of white and toned paper.
- Paper cutter
- Bone folder
- Scoring tool (could use a number of things to make an impression on the paper to make it easy to fold.
- Glue – Good to have glue that is designed to work on paper that won't warp it.
- Microns or other fine liners, in black, and other colors.
- Gel pens, colored pencils, chalk pencils, markers – anything you want to add color.
- Graphite pencil (Regular No. 2 works great!)
- Tortillons or stumps to blend (You could use a cotton swabs too).
- Oh, just grab everything and have it ready for inspiration!!

While it helps to have taken a beginning Zentangle® class, like my Zentangle Essentials, it is not necessary. As with all of my Zentangle® classes - NO ART SKILLS REQUIRED!!
